

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUBS OF TODAY GIVEN TRIBUTE

Rev. Pierc-Gouging Telis Gyros
That Their Objects Are Bound

With the Christmas spirit predominating, the Guro Club held its usual luncheon in the Hudson's on Tuesday.

The Rev. E. Pierc-Gouging was the speaker of the day. In opening, he said that it was an honor and a privilege to be associated with such a club of young men, that had as its object purely patriotic and social, and some definite object for the betterment of one's fellow man.

Mr. Pierc-Gouging paid tribute to the business men's clubs of today. He said that the business men's clubs, these clubs, more business men were taking an interest in religion than ever before. He said that he was an optimist in that respect. The speaker then said that he was a founder of the Rotary Club admitting that the principles of Rotary were based upon the motto, "Service to Christ."

The outlook for Guro for the coming year was bright, said Mr. Pierc-Gouging. He said the Guro would enter upon 1922 with a spirit of enthusiasm. He was glad the club had been founded in 1919, and said he was, he said, well founded on Christ's principles of helping all men. He said that the Guro Club had come from all sides from both good and bad backgrounds, but had come to stay over all. Instead of being the 3rd or 4th city in so far as business is concerned, the Guro, he said, had come the first, in enthusiasm, and was the best organized club of people as a club of young men, standing up in their own field, doing things.

Local and Jimmy Kerr, Vice-President, and others were present by invitation.

CHRISTMAS MUSICAL SERVICE HELD AT MCDOUGALL CHURCH

A large congregation gathered in McDougall church on Sunday evening to hear the choir give their annual service of Christmas music.

The service, which was about forty, was nicely balanced and under the capable direction of Arthur K. Putnam, organist. The organ, not only upheld the usual service, but even surpassed previous efforts.

A variety of items were rendered, ranging from carols to choruses from the great operas.

The service was well received, the organ, not only upheld the usual service, but even surpassed previous efforts.

The service opened with the singing of the old familiar carol, "Silent Night," using a setting of great beauty and enunciation, and also without the usual accompaniment, that was in the repetoire of the choir.

After the congregation had been seated, the organist, Mr. Putnam, took the solo part, singing it in a voice of fine quality, which this setting of the old Christmas carol was very effective.

After the singing of the Lord's Prayer, and was given a very spirited and effective setting, which was well received.

Miss O. Detleffson gave a good interpretation of the well known hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," which was well received.

The pastor, Rev. R. L. McTavish, gave a short address, taking as his theme, "The Christmas Message," which he brought to this world, a message of love and hope.

He also gave two notes, that of secret true love and the expression of the secret of true love, which was the secret of the Gospel being joy, founded on the love of God.

Communist Goss To The Scrap Heap.

While the outside world is feeding the victims Lenin is taking the opportunity to drop his own. He is even prepared to return to a national policy of reconstruction based on capitalism. Otherwise, upon the desire of the individual to earn a living for himself and his family rather than to work for the state. He tried to do this in his last speech to the ninth All-Russian Soviet Congress. And the congress accepted the declaration, albeit with groans from the die-hard Socialist quakers.

For how long the shift is to be made, and what means employed for re-establishing the business in the vast realm is not disclosed in the despatches. That likely enough, because not even Lenin knows how long it is to be before the destruction is to be made of the Soviet system. The Soviet system has been successful as a destroyer. As yet it has been successful as nothing else. The greater the destruction it has been, the closer the focus of the road back. And the backward road is the one that Russia must take if the race to survive. Contingent communist means of extinction. Russia is doomed to extinction unless it makes a struggle for existence. Soviet rule is commercial cannibalism, and the end of that is race suicide.

For the time being, however, and to prop up the Soviet system, it is to be made to think that the Soviets would probably abolish him. And his sugar-coats the pill by saying that he is reverting to capitalism only as a temporary expedient. The time of the re-education of the masses is unimportant. Soviet rule cannot continue in a country where individualism is the law and social order and to abolish capitalism in future would produce only what is being aimed at now. That is, a state assumption that if communism is scrapped and individualism re-established in Russia under any generally tolerable conditions two things will happen: Capitalism will remain, and the Soviet will go.

Lenin's right about face, it is said, was accepted by the unwilling communists in the country only because they did not know what else to do. They hate "capitalism with the passion of fanaticism, but they had no alternative to propose. Industrial Russia is paralysed. Food is scarce and dear year by year, aside from the temporary influx of the foreign press. Russian money has ceased to be a medium of exchange at home or abroad, because it is worth so little more than the paper of which it is made that it has no purchasing value on other commodities. The Russian farmer refuses to produce "for use not for profit," that is for the use of other people when denied the opportunity of making profit for himself. And faced by the situation the communists had no solution to offer.

Russia has conducted the most comprehensive experiments in socialism that the world has yet seen. It was inaugurated there under every varying circumstance. The nation was mad with the abuses of the autocratic regime, and ready to had any new power, and any new form of government. There was no want of enthusiasm on the part of the "reds," and lack of power to enforce compliance with their rule. And their head was a man who, whatever you may think of him, undoubtedly believed in communism and was prepared to go any lengths to establish it. Neither wholesale murder, wholesale confiscation of property, nor any other crime has been too monstrous to be justified in the eyes of the Soviet masters if it is used to make communism workable. And in the end the head of the movement proclaims in open congress that the scheme has failed, that all the blood has been spilled in vain, that the robbery of the victims has been wasted of fort, and that Russia must start again or return to the system of allowing the individual to gather and keep the fruit of his labor and his oversight must perish.

Now the Panaman Canal was being dug there was a somewhat general expectation that one effect of the enterprise would be to make Vancouver one of the outlet ports through which the grain crops of grain Canada would flow to the European market. The Canal has been open to traffic for years, but Vancouver is not a wheat port yet. The Dominion Government has been trying for a terminal elevator there as nearly as can be learned to justify the investment, and most of the grain that has gone through the Canal has been shipped to foreign countries as tried out in the Russian experience bears a different aspect than its authors may have intended. Instead of being the means of liberating a people from serfdom, the grain has been used in an attempt to plunge the millions of Russia into slavery to the state. They have been dictated to in matters small and great. Open opposition was crushed. But pressure resistance has been used to force submission as tried out in the Russian experience. An alternative to the grain is grain. As an alternative to the grain, Vancouver has still to make a start. There is a rumor now about the Coast that the United Grain Growers will build a large terminal elevator at the head of the Canal. The most likely assumption would be that the company may lease the Government elevator; which would perhaps be the wiser course from every standpoint, but the experiment has not been tried.

In either event, the development would be of interest to Alberta only in degree less than to Vancouver. If the Pacific route to Europe is practicable offers to Europe a much more direct route across the ocean, and if the United Grain Growers have decided to ship that it is cheaper to ship grain across the ocean or more of the rail. The long talked-of opening up of the Western route to Europe may be about to occur.

Now comes the question of submarine warfare. The Hughes scheme of limitation of submarine warfare in this class of "war craft" is not infallible. It will endeavor, however, to bring the world to the point of a general agreement in the new government.

This is a fact that W. D. Warner will be instrumental in the new government.

This is a matter that has not been decided, but it is a fact that Mr. Warner has been mentioned as a possibility.

What is the opinion of the Edmonton Bulletin to whom should I write for information in regard to this?

Willie to Isaac White, Edmonton, he will be able to give you all the information you require.

Being an old subscriber and having no other means of obtaining a ready supply of the Bulletin, I would like to receive it free. Do you have any plans to do more important things by mail?

The boy who will not work with his hands even if such work offers the best opportunity for him to earn a living, may never wear overalls, but neither will he ever be a useful member of the nation.

If you are a member of the Boy Scouts, you will find much out of it, incidentally you will never be likely to become a member of the Boy Scouts.

Somebody's hands and somebody's clothes are dirty, and somebody's clothes are clean, and somebody's clothes are dirty.

If they happen to be yours, you can wash them.

You can wear old clothes which will not fit you, but a good brush and soap and water will fix your hands up after the old clothes are washed.

Working at home labor is not pleasant, but many men learn that way.

In any case, they find more what is going on in the minds of the average people than in the minds of the average business men.

They have to understand problems that have to do with human dispositions. These are not always the same as the average man, but which will some day need to be understood.

Don't be ashamed of your job. Get into it, live in it, plan and plan to do bigger things by it.

But while you are working at it, be able to make it your business to do it well.

It will make your brains as well as your hands.

THE MAN WHO IS ASHAMED OF HIS JOB

Overalls have been the first uniform of the working man.

Abraham Lincoln wore them—or a homespun equivalent.

Thomas A. Edison, Edward Hurley, Charles G. Dawes, and many others.

College presidents, even college presidents have worn them.

None of them were ashamed of them.

None of them care if you are ashamed of them.
